The Strathcona Community Health Network is seeking a part-time Health Network Coordinator for a 12 month contract.

The Coordinator works to address the social determinants of health - the things that influence health before we get sick, like housing and transport - by listening to the experiences of local people and acting on their advice. The position requires excellent listening, coordination, and engagement skills, as well as an understanding of how to work effectively and respectfully with communities who don't always have a seat at the table.

Health Coordinator, Libby King, will spend much of 2020 working on a Canada Council writing grant but will remain in her position for 5 hours per week to provide support to the new Coordinator and the Table of Partners.

The job posting is available on the SRD website here.

Three steps to achieving any goal

- 1. The first step is to sit down and make a list of your goals. You have to be clear, and know what your goals are before you can work to accomplish them. There are two different types of goals that you're going to define on your list, short-term and long-term goals. An example of a short-term goal might be to score 10 points in the next game, and a good long-term goal may be to play in college. Dream big when you pick your goals, but know that it's going to take a lot of hard work to turn them into reality.
- 2. After you create your list, you need to develop a plan of how you are going to accomplish your goals. Anybody can have a dream, but only those that are willing to work hard and put in the time and effort have a chance to reach their goals. The next step is to take your list and write down what you are going to do every day or every week to accomplish these goals. For example, if you want to become a better ball handler you can write down "practice dribbling for 10 minutes a day." This is a good starting point and you will begin to move toward accomplishing one of your short-term goals. When you design your plan make sure that it is realistic. Don't write down, "shoot 5,000 shots every day." Write down something that you will be able to accomplish. After you make your list make sure to put it somewhere that you will see it every single day.
- 3. Stay Dedicated This is the hardest part for most people because everyone wants success right away, but that is not usually how it works. Don't get frustrated if you don't see immediate results. Be patient and stay committed to working hard. It takes time to become a better player, trust the process. Keep looking at your goals and use them for motivation to help you to keep working hard. All of your hard work will pay off down the line. Not every player will accomplish everything that they set out to do, but following this plan will give you a great chance for success!
